

Thank You

Dearest Tanuj,

I love spending time with you. Somewhere along the way, without me even realizing it, you became my calm, my comfort – my place to rest.

I don't know why I never let anyone this close to me before. Maybe I was protecting myself. Maybe I was waiting. But with you, it wasn't accidental. I consciously chose you. I chose to open up, to stay, to feel.

You feel like home to me. Not a place – a feeling. A feeling of safety, warmth, and quiet peace.

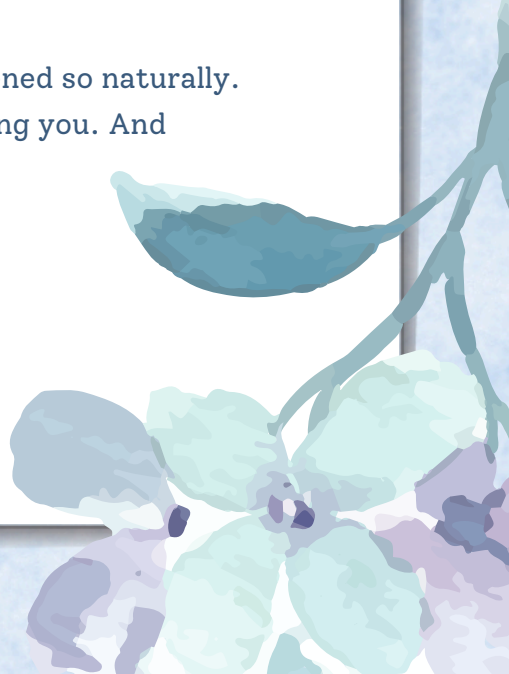

I love every inch of you – the way you think, the way you speak, the way you care. You are the calm to my chaos. Hearing your voice makes me feel alive, and your love and kindness make me softer, more patient, more grounded.

My heart thinks of you more than it ever expected to.
You are my comfort person, my home, and my soulmate.

I read all our texts from the very beginning on February 1, and somewhere between those words and memories, I felt this urge to create something for you – this little space, this website – for Valentine's Day.

I don't know how the transition from day one to now happened so naturally. There was no big moment, no dramatic shift – just you, being you. And somehow, that was enough.

You are magic in the quietest way.
So easy to love.
So easy to feel safe with.

You won my heart not with grand gestures, but with honesty, empathy, affection, respect and the patience you carry so gently. You truly deserve all the love and happiness in the world.

I love you a lot ❤️ And I always want to be someone who makes you happy – someone who brings you peace, warmth, and smiles, just the way you bring them to me.

You are a gift. And I'm grateful every day that I get to know you, love you, and choose you ❤️ with love,

Your 